Eminent British Historian to Give Fifth President's Lecture Tuesday 11 April 1989

The fifth President's Lecture at St. Michael's will be given on Tuesday 11 April 1989 at 8:00 P.M. in the Assembly Hall in Brennan Hall, by Sir Michael Howard, M.C., F.B.A., C.B.E., Regius Professor of Modern History in Oxford University. His topic will be, "Structure and Process in History."

After his education at Wellington College and Christ Church, Oxford, Sir Michael served in the Coldstream Guards in Italy, where he was awarded the Military Cross. He taught History at the University of London where from 1963 to 1968 he was Professor of War Studies. He was then elected Fellow of Higher Defence Studies at All Souls College, Oxford and in 1977 was appointed to the Chichele Chair of the History of War at Oxford; in 1980 he succeeded Hugh Trevor-Roper as the Oxford Regius Professor of Modern History. He is President of the International Institute for Strategic Studies and Vice-President of the Historical Society and of the Council on Christian Approaches to Defence and Disarmament; in July, 1989 he will become the first Robert H. Lovett Professor of Military History at Yale University. A Fellow of the British Academy, the Royal Historical Society and the Royal Society of Literature, Sir Michael was made a Commander of the British Empire in 1977 and knighted in 1986. His The Franco-Prussian War and The Grand Strategy were award-winning volumes; his other publications include The Continental Commitment: the Dilemma of British Defence Policy in the Era of the World

Sir Michael Howard, M.C., F.B.A., C.B.E.

Wars, War in European History, Studies in War and Peace and The Causes of Wars.

The prospect of nuclear war, the moral dilemmas of statesmen, the division between ethics and politics, between right and expediency, and the need for constantly renewed vigilance to establish a state of peace have been continuing concerns of this year's President's Lecturer. Sir Michael's forthcoming lecture, Father James McConica remarked, "will be a general reflection on the seeming direction of historical development over recent centuries, and of the implication of this for the future of human society. It will be his first consideration of history on this broad and philosophical plane, and we may be sure that it will be marked by the same energy, precision, and moral insight that has distinguished all of his career."

All are welcome to the fifth President's Lecture.

Capital Campaign — Progress Report

"Progress" is exactly the right word to describe the fortunes of the first St. Michael's Capital Campaign in over thirty-five years. Nine months after the June kick-off, Richard Alway, Chairman of the five-year Campaign, and Maude McCarty, Campaign Director, report that the donation commitment of the students, the high percentage of faculty-staff pledges, several generous lead donations, and the current response from the Capital Campaign mail appeal to the alumni have moved us to within striking distance of our $2.4 million goal. The University of Toronto will match that amount with $1.6 million. This encouraging support from alumni, students, faculty, staff and friends of the College has created the happy prospect of early starts on the expansion of the J.M. Kelly Library and the construction of a new academic complex: the two Capital Campaign projects. "An early start", said St. Michael's President Father James McConica, "will soon enable the Campaign donors to see the impact of their gifts on the life of the College. St. Michael's is indeed blessed in the many people who are supporting the Campaign".

A formal Campaign status report is expected March 31, a year after the advanced giving phase of the Capital Campaign began. Father McConica, Richard Alway and Maude McCarty are quick to point out that there is much yet to be accomplished and that more donations are needed for the ultimate success of the campaign. Alumni who have not yet made their Capital Campaign gift or pledge and wish further information on how to do so are invited to contact the Capital Campaign Office, 121 St. Joseph St., Box A, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1J4, 926-7281.

Clockwise, Father James McConica, C.S.B., Maude McCarty, Capital Campaign Director and Richard Alway 6T2, Warden of Hart House, Capital Campaign Chairman

Second Annual Advent Alumni Mass

Some thirty alumni and their families gathered on Saturday 19 December to prepare for Christmas by celebrating Mass, enjoying the company and partaking of delicious Christmas baked goods provided by those in attendance. It was a joyful, peaceful time in the pleasant setting of Charbonnel Lounge. The student choir did admirably in providing music and deserve thanks and compliments, as does Sr. Johnanna D'Agostino of the Chaplaincy for her help in arrangements. Fr. Robert Madden offered the Mass and was homilist. We shall do it again next year—do come!

Class Room Facility Named for Sam Sobara

A name long associated with St. Michael's College will identify the soon-to-be developed lecture hall and seminar-room building, formerly the Coach House beside Alumni Hall. A generous contribution to the current Capital Campaign from the Sam Sorbara Charitable Foundation has been made possible by the members of the Sorbara family to honour their father, Mr. Sam Sorbara, and to commemorate their family's close ties to the College.

Sam Sorbara was a familiar figure on campus prior to entering upon his business career, and his children, Joe, Ed, Marcella, Gregory, and his son-in-law Joe Tanzola also attended St.

Michael's. Over the years they all have continued their active contact with St. Michael's in many ways, including membership on the Executive of the St. Michael's College Foundation, the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association and the Capital Campaign Committee.

Sam Sorbara Hall will stand as a symbol of the Sorbaras' appreciation of the College's role in their lives and of their commitment to Catholic higher education and the future of St. Michael's.

St. Michael's is deeply grateful to the Sorbaras for this further and most significant indication of their dedication to the College and its work.

VARSITY FUND 88-89 Congratulations — Thanks — And - Will We Make It?

The alumni and friends of St. Michael's are once more to be congratulated. Not only has there been an encouraging response to the five-year Capital Campaign, but the 1988-89 Varsity Fund Drive is closing in on its objective of $525,000. There is general amazement in the University at the generous reactions of the St. Michael's family to the two separate fund raising efforts. What can we say to that amazement? Simple: "You do not know St. Mike's." What do we say to you donors? "Thank you!"

The work of Fr. John Kelly and the Alumni Boards over the years has brought home to alumni and friends the importance of the Varsity Fund to those distinctive spiritual, academic, cultural, social and athletic programmes and activities that meet the needs of today's students and keep up the St. Michael's tradition of excellence.

Thanks to Gloria Buckley, her committee members and the over one hundred volunteer phoners they recruited, our phonathon brought in pledges of over $50,000—a phonathon record for St. Michael's. Alumni, students and faculty gathered for seven nights of phoning in late November. One of our phoners, second-year English student Rob Chambers from Sudbury won the trip for two to Montreal in a raffle among all this year's U of T phoners.

But we have a way to go yet to reach our goal of $525,000 and time to do it! Since the University shifted the Varsity Fund year from calendar to fiscal, we have some two months yet to reach that goal. If we fail to obtain the targeted amount, fewer new, necessary, books will be in the library, and cut backs will have to be made in the programmes and activities dependent upon the Varsity Fund. We must not let that happen. Those who have not sent in a contribution to the current 1988-89 Varsity Fund drive and wish to do so can still donate and enable us to fund the Varsity Fund programmes to which we are committed—help us reach the goal!

The last day of April concludes the current Varsity Fund. The first day of May begins the 1989-90 Varsity Fund; be assured you will be kept posted about its plans and objectives!

Alumnus Vernon Bourke 2T8 Honoured at St. Michael's Theology Convocation

A crowded St. Basil's Church was the setting for the thirty-fourth annual Theology Convocation of the University of St. Michael's College on 26 November 1988. Ninety-three students received advanced or basic degrees or diplomas from Father James McConica, Vice-Chancellor and President of the University of St. Michael's, who, accompanied by the Honourable John B. Aird, Chancellor of the University of Toronto, presided over the ceremony.

St. Michael's honoured three men whose illustrious careers have contributed greatly to the Christian intellectual life in Canada and the United States. Most Reverend Maxim Hermaniuk, C.Ss.R. Metropolitan for Ukrainian Catholics in Canada, and Canon Eugene Fairweather, Noble Professor Emeritus of Divinity, Trinity College, U of T, each received an honorary Doctor of Divinity; Professor Vernon Bourke, Professor Emeritus of Philosophy, St. Louis University, received the degree Doctor of Sacred Letters. Professor Bourke graduated with a B.A. in Philosophy from St. Michael's in 1928 and then degrees of M.A. and PhD from the University of Toronto. He was one of the first students of the newly-founded Institute of Medieval Studies, where his teachers included Father Henry Carr, Monsignor Gerald Phelan, and Etienne Gilson. He lectured at St. Michael's after his degree studies until he accepted an appointment to St. Louis University where he continued until his retirement in 1975. In retirement he remained active and was for some years Director of the Centre for Thomistic Studies in Houston, Texas. He is one of the most prolific authors among St. Michael's graduates; his work in ethics is admired internationally, and his studies of St. Augustine and St. Thomas Aquinas have significantly contributed to the understanding and appreciation of those thinkers.

The alumni offer congratulations to Professor Bourke and laud the College's decision to honour such a worthy graduate.

Father Richard Donovan, C.S.B. Retires from Registrar's Office

Father Richard Donovan, C.S.B., has been associated with St. Michael's for almost forty-seven years as undergraduate, theology student, teacher, Head of the French Department and Registrar. He has excelled in all these roles.

His classmates of 1947 remember him with fondness and respect; his students have warm memories of his French classes and his sincere concern for them; his colleagues in the French Department can recall with appreciation the manner in which he administered that department in the 60's and early 70's; but perhaps the students and teachers whose memories will be most grateful, appreciative and admiring are those whom he served so selflessly and carefully as Registrar of the College from 1976 until 1989. His knowledge of procedures and detail was assuring, his personal interest in and sense of responsibility for each student was encouraging and inspiring. His wisdom saved more than one career. Father Donovan is presently advising his successor, Father Richard Allard, C.S.B., and at the end of this semester will begin a more than well-deserved sabbatical year.

The alumni welcome Father Allard and wish Father Donovan well. All of us harbour the hope he will continue his association with St. Michael's.

Rick Hayward Accepts New Position at University of Toronto

Since 1963 Rick Hayward has been crossing Queen's Park to various other University buildings, for classes, for Hart House workouts, for Convocations, and for meetings of Deans of Residence, of Directors of Student Affairs, of Registrars. At the end of January he crossed Queen's Park again, this time to take up the newly created position in the Faculty of Arts and Science of Associate Registrar—Enrolment and Registration. His initial task is to deal with difficulties of the present registration procedure and then to develop a voice-respond enrolment system. His experience with student life, with registrarial work, and his mastery of the computer fit him well for the new and important post.

In recent years Rick has laboured long and hard in the St. Michael's Registrar's Office, the last few years as Associate Registrar. His understanding, patience, and desire to help the students have contributed greatly to the preservation of the friendly, family atmosphere that is the St. Michael's tradition. His visits to high schools in Ontario have been invaluable in explaining the complexities of the U of T to matriculating students, and his friendliness has encouraged many to apply to the College. That friendliness, willingness to listen and the courage to say what students needed to hear was experienced by all who went to him. To say Rick will be missed is an understatement, but it is reassuring to students and staff alike to know that his talents, his interest in and dedication to students will continue to be at work on the campus. The alumni, thousands of whom he has served and influenced, wish him well. His St. Michael's colleagues join in that wish and express the hope that he will often come back across Queen's Park.

The Alumni Affairs Office takes this opportunity to express its particular gratitude to Rick for helping us into the computer swim and, on more than one occasion, coming to our rescue when we found ourselves over our heads.

A Mass of Dedication of the new War Memorial at the College was celebrated last November 10th in St. Basil's Church.

The Memorial honouring the memory of the alumni of St. Michael's who made the supreme sacrifice in world Wars I and II, and in Korea, was completed last summer in the slype between More and Fisher residences.

Father McConica was the principal celebrant; among those concelebrating were Monsignor Alan McCormack, Vice-chancellor of the Archdiocese of Toronto, representing Emmett Cardinal Carter, Chancellor of the University of St. Michael's College, and Lt. Col. (Rev.) Edward Janowski, CD, the Catholic chaplain at Downsview. Monsignor Edward A. Synan, acting President of the Pontifical Institute of Medieval Studies, was the homilist.

After the Mass there was a procession to the slype, where the tablets inscribed with the names of the deceased were blessed. The ceremonies concluded with a reception in Charbonnel Lounge.

Ed's note: Fr. O'Brien and his brother Jim 5T0 were vital forces in conception, execution and completion of the War Memorial.

At the reception: Joyce and Alex Williams 5T0, Jim O'Brien 5T0, Mick 6T0 and Annette (Convey) Spillane 6T3.

Teach Me Goodness, Discipline and Knowledge

Father Joseph Dorsey, Father David Bauer, Father Gerald McGuigan

Father Joseph B. Dorsey, C.S.B.
1915-1988

In the past seven months death has taken three Basilian priests who graduated from St. Michael's and whose work reflects the motto of the Basilians and the rich variety of the Church's mission. Their lives, like the lives of so many St. Michael's graduates, reflect the spirit and traditions of the College.

Father Joseph Dorsey died in Rochester, N.Y., on 28 December after four months in hospital. A graduate from St. Michael's in 1938, a member of the English Department and a Resident Prefect here from 1947 to 1961, Father Dorsey brought hope, joy, knowledge, encouragement, common sense and a firm belief in God and the Catholic Faith into the lives of those he met through teaching, coaching, counselling, educational administration and politics. His interest in life and people was indeed catholic. His talents were many, and he used them enthusiastically and to the full in the service of others, whether at St. Michael's or in Rochester, N.Y., where he was stationed for twenty-seven years at St. John Fisher College and Christ the King parish. Letters written from Japan, the United States and Canada by St. Michael's alumni who heard of his death attest to Father Dorsey's importance at crucial times in the lives of many.

He last visited St. Michael's in June 1988 to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his graduation. He rejoiced with his classmates, colleagues and confreres, and preached at the Reunion Mass, reminding us of the importance of a Community of Faith in our lives and recalling with warmth the sense of community he experienced at St. Michael's. That homily was one of the last public addresses he gave. Shortly after his return to Rochester, the cancer he had fought for over four years returned and finally confined him to hospital where, characteristically, he ministered to others by his words and the example of his Faith, patience and peaceful manner.

Father David Bauer, C.S.B., O.C.

* * * * *

Father David Bauer graduated from St. Michael's in 1949 and Father Gerald McGuigan in 1950. Both had remarkable careers that began with teaching: Father Bauer at St. Michael's College School and later at St. Mark's College in the University of British Columbia; Father McGuigan at St. Mark's College also, with Father Bauer for several years, and at Erindale College and St. Michael's Faculty of Theology in the University of Toronto.

David Bauer's athletic abilities and his convictions about the importance of education led him into the world of hockey. The articles that appeared in newspapers across Canada at his death on 9 November made clear the extraordinary contribution he had made to international amateur hockey. He has been rightly called the Father of Canada's National Team. His approach to that project, and his continuing concern, was that of a great teacher working always for the spiritual, intellectual and physical development of his players. In a sense, he developed a "counter culture" by opposing the commercial exploitation, violence and over-emphasis on winning (he wanted fiercely to win, but winning was not everything) that was threatening the proper role of sport in human development.

Father McGuigan was a professor of Economics, at both the University of British Columbia and the University of Toronto. On a study leave that took him by land and sea to India he was

CAMPUS NOTES

- We must begin with a correction: in a picture in the last issue, John Canning 8T6 was identified as one of the "former SMC Debating Union Presidents." Peter Smith 8T8, a former President of SMCDU, has kindly pointed out that John never held that office. Peter was present on the occasion of the picture (Judy Bradt's 8T2 wedding) but could not be found when the picture was taken. Peter has also informed us that "while John was never SMCDU's President, he was from time to time its entire membership."

- The SMC Chaplaincy hosted the opening reception supper of the National Newman Conference held at the Newman Centre in August. The Canada Room, Brennan Hall, was chosen as the site of the conference's closing banquet.

- Some Celtic Studies Programme students spent the summer in Ireland in language studies and archaeological digs in Connemara, Meath and Limerick.

- Dr. Mimi Marrocco 6T9, Director of Continuing Studies, has taken on further responsibilities in matters of community relations and the St. Michael's theatre administration.

- The entire catalogue of the John M. Kelly Library will soon be machine readable. The transfer of materials from cards to computer has been underway for some time.

- Through cooperative negotiation between SMC's Principal William Dunphy 4T8 and the Chair of the U of T French Department, the Language Lab on the third floor of Carr Hall (the main reading room when the library was moved there in 1952) has received several computers with "language-acquisition software." It is now referred to as the Language Learning Centre.

- Last October the Chaplaincy sponsored a Thanksgiving drive that resulted in one thousand cans of food and twenty bags of clothing. The Chaplaincy's Christmas drive, through donations and the sale of Christmas cards, brought in $767.00. This food, clothing and money were distributed to agencies in the city that feed the hungry, provide shelter and clothing, and serve those suffering from AIDS. The Chaplaincy continues to provide Faith instruction, group discussions, special lectures, retreats for students and staff, a Lenten series, and daily and Sunday Mass in the College Chapel; daily at 11:15 A.M.; Sunday at 11:00 A.M.

- The University Mass, coordinated from the President's Office, continues each Sunday during the academic term at 4:30 P.M. in St. Basil's Church. As with the Chaplaincy Masses, all are welcome.

- The International Association for Neo-Latin Studies Conference was held on the U of T Campus. Sister Mechulde O'Mara, C.S.J. 5T6, Father James McConica and Father Charles Principe 5T2 were among those involved. The College hosted some of the events.

- Father James McConica delivered the 1988 Edward Surtz Lecture at Loyola University of Chicago. The title of the lecture was "The Divine Word and the Humanist Mission: then and now." The 1987 Surtz Lecturer was Monika Hellwig, our 1988 Kelly Lecturer. Father McConica has been elected Foreign Member of the Academy of Letters by the Royal Belgian Academy of Sciences, Letters and Fine Arts. He has also been chosen as one of three Canadian representatives to meet in Rome to discuss the draft version of the pontifical document on Catholic Universities.

- Joseph O'Connell, Religious Studies Department, is one of the editors of the recent Sikh History and Religion in the Twentieth Century, published by the Centre of South Asian Studies, U of T. He is also Chair of the Arts and Science Programme in South Asian Studies and has been asked to be Secretary General for the Thirty-third International Congress of Asian and North African Studies to be convened in 1990.

- Father Charles Leland, C.S.B., English Department, has been asked to assist the General Editor of the projected Ibsen Encyclopedia.

- At the Canadian Catholic Historical Association's conference last summer Father Brian Hogan, C.S.B., Faculty of Theology was elected to a two-year term as President. Professor Joseph Boyle, Philosophy Department, having served as Vice-President, has become President of the Catholic Philosophical Society.

- Professor Jill Webster, Department of Spanish and Portuguese and cross-appointed to St. Michael's, has been appointed to a five-year term as Director of the U of T's Centre for Medieval Studies.

- Books recently published by faculty members of the University of St. Michael's College include:

- Father Dan Donovan, 5T8, Faculty of Theology, The Church as Idea and Fact, Michael Glazier Press.

- Professor Lloyd Gerson, Philosophy Department, God and Greek Philosophy: Studies in the Early History of Natural Theology, Routledge, Kegan Paul Press.

- Professor Pierre Hebert, French Department, Index-Thesaurus de l'ox et Images, University of Quebec Press; A Study of Le Journal intime au Quebec, Fides Press.

- Professor Margaret O'Gara, Faculty of Theology, Triumph in Defeat: Infallibility, Vatican I, and the French Minority Bishops, Catholic University Press.

- The position of Dean of College has been established by the Collegium. The Dean of College will be the College Officer responsible for student activities and conduct. The first appointee is Alexander Reford 8T4, at present Dean of Men's Residence. Dean Reford, in consultation with the College Administration and the Student Body, is developing a new code of conduct for the St. Michael's campus.

- Some Residence information: One hundred and fifty-nine women students reside in Loreto College, one hundred and seventy-six in St. Joseph's College, and two hundred and forty men are in St. Michael's residences. The resident students come from almost every Province in Canada, and from the United States, Trinidad, Bahrain, West Germany, Greece, Hong Kong, Bahamas, Italy, Mexico, Singapore, the Netherlands, England, and the West Indies. Resident students form about one seventh of the undergraduate population of St. Michael's. The foundation of House 29, Queen's Park, has been renewed, and new lounges have been established on some of the floors in Mary Hall. Fisher House rooms have received new doors, floors have been sanded, the common room relocated and the first new room furniture in over thirty years has been introduced. The main doors of More and Fisher have been replaced by doors in the style of the original.

- Ms. Mary Lam is the new Director of Food Services. Ms. Lam came to St. Michael's from a position as dietician at St. Michael's Hospital; she was Assistant Director of Food Services until the retirement of Mr. Fernando Amorim.

Sport Shorts

- St. Michael's is again enjoying a very active inter-faculty and intramural sports programme. The Mulock Cup team reached the semi-finals but lost to Scarborough College. The women's A soccer team lost the Championship it had held for the last two years in a final whose outcome was determined by a nerve-straining shoot-out.

- Dean Alex Reford and members of his family have established a new trophy at St. Michael's, The Dean's Cup. A beautiful silver cup, it will be awarded to the men's residence which has the best record in the St. Michael's residence sports league.

- The men's lacrosse team had a perfect season and defeated Erindale for their third Championship in four years.

On the weekend of October 14-16, SMC alumni and alumnae from all over North America gathered for a lively Homecoming at SMC.

More than 300 grads attended the Friday night "all alumni" cocktail party. They were joined by many current and former faculty members, some of whom had themselves come from afar to meet with former classmates and students.

On Saturday morning a vociferous crowd of hot dog munching alumni supporters cheered their aged gridiron greats, led by the ever faithful Frank Kielty 5T8 to their 'traditional' victory over the upstart students in the annual Boozier Brown memorial football game.

The weekend's highlight, a dinner hosted by SMC, assembled 250 members of the classes of 8T3, 7T8, 7T3 and 6T8 for good food and great conversation. Over roast beef and fortified grape juice, alumni from such distant locales as Vancouver, Dallas, Halifax, LaConner and Seattle (Wash.), North Carolina and Scarborough renewed old friendships, lamented lost waistlines and assured the profitability of Kodak.

Festivities concluded on an appropriate note with a joint undergrad-alumni Mass on Sunday morning which, despite the previous evening's activities, was surprisingly well-attended by featured-year alumni. The Mass was concelebrated by Fr. McConica and other Basilian faculty members. Fr. Madden delivered the homily, about which one '68 alumnus was heard to remark that he was "... amazed. It was shorter and more coherent than his lectures used to be."

At the conclusion of the weekend, the Director of Alumni Affairs, when asked to summarize his thoughts about Homecoming '88, stated that he was "heartened by the size of the turnout, enthused by the spirit of the participants, grateful to have updated the fundraising mailing list, but dismayed at the ongoing immaturity of the class of '68."

It was the best of times.

Monika Hellwig's 1988 John M. Kelly Lecture:

A Report

By Father Brian Hogan, C.S.B.

When Monika Hellwig arrived to present the ninth John M. Kelly Lecture in Brennan Hall on 3 November she was amazed at the capacity crowd. Knowing the popularity of both the lecture series and the speaker, her auditors were not. Nor were expectations disappointed as the Georgetown lecturer skillfully and caringly explored dimensions of her theme: the context in which theological discourse is developing in the Catholic church. The title of her talk, "Between Challenge and Opportunity," suggested crisis concerns. Her informed and critical manner of address did not flinch before the problematic aspects of these concerns but succeeded in locating these difficult questions in a hopeful theological and pastoral context of present and future possibility.

Professor Hellwig began by discussing five conditions influencing the way in which theology is being done, and then demonstrated some six unresolved problems. She spoke of the difficulties flowing from the interaction of religious questions and mass media but noted that this interaction provided an atmosphere which encouraged broader participation in theological dialogue. She perceives Catholics of the post-Vatican II period as living with more than one model of Church, and more than one way of 'doing' theology. This complicates the task of presenting the work of theologians in a clear manner. As well, the twin factors of ecumenism and pluralism, while encouraging emergence from a more defensive, isolated intellectual and spiritual world, have presented real challenges for Catholics. At this point the lecturer raised two questions. First, she inquired as to whether we have really responded to the demands of deep conversation required by ecumenical dialogue. Secondly, she wondered whether we have come to feel at home in conversations creased by considerations of relativity—whether in respect to a scientific comprehension of physical reality, or to the socio-critical dialogues between theology and the social sciences. Finally, Doctor Hellwig examined current publishing patterns and explored the difficulties attending communication of research and reflection, including the sheer volume of material. Here she emphasized the importance of maintaining a balance in study between the classical theological and spiritual works of our tradition and the materials emerging from contemporary reflection.

The concluding section of the talk explored unresolved aspects of questions attending the work of theologians today. These include considerations of the relationship between theologians and the teaching magisterium and the difficulties attending attempts to determine the "sensus fidelium." A third area of concern involves the question of the tension between theological reflection in the local Church and in the universal Church; and a fourth, the secular society's search for sustaining values and the need to convey religious concerns to this society in a convincing manner. A fifth area deals with the necessity of holding for orthodoxy while developing the dimensions of hopeful theological discourse in this time and place. The speaker's last concern dealt with dimensions of interaction among theologians themselves, including methodologies, areas of investigations, and patterns of rewards.

To these difficult, frequently contentious and sometimes divisive issues, Professor Hellwig brought a mind that is theologically critical and historically accurate, and a manner which is contemplative, reflective, and gracious. Had Father Kelly been physically present for the discussion which ensued, one thinks he would have had some questions to offer. One knows that he would have appreciated the intelligence of the lecturer, been stimulated by the exact and engaging lecture, and pleased by the compelling conversation.

Ed's Note: Father Brian Hogan is a Assistant Professor of Church History in St. Michael's Faculty of Theology.

THANK YOU FERNANDO AMORIM

After thirty-three years with St. Michael's, Fernando Amorim took early retirement in October of 1988. It was in October of 1955 that Fernando began his association with the Food Services Department. After serving as cafeteria manager and studying for several summers in Cornell University's famous restaurant and hotel programme, he became Assistant Director of Food Services and in 1972 was appointed Director. Generations of students, faculty and staff join in expressing gratitude to Fernando and wish him the very best in the years to come.

Second Annual First-Year Students' Parents' Day

The balloons were the real hit of Parents' Day '88! Photo: W.P. Wittman.

By Sister Johanna D'Agostina, IBVM

The College's second First-year Parents' Day was held on Sunday, September 25, 1988. Over four hundred parents attended the day's events—many of them alumni.

Father James McConica presided at the Mass which began the day's events. Several Basilian faculty members were concelebrants and Father Ulysse Paré, Basilian Superior General, was the homilist. A very able student choir led the congregational singing.

The Alumni sponsored an attractive post-Mass brunch (prepared by SMC Food Services) which provided the opportunity for casual conversation between the faculty members in attendance and the parents of the first year students.

Cathie Brayley, Vice-President of the Alumni, brought greetings from the Association, and her comments reinforced the alumni's interest and participation in events at St. Michael's. Presentations about the College and university life were also made.

The day ended with guided tours of the campus which attracted approximately one hundred parents, for some of whom it was indeed a trip down memory lane!

Ed's. Note: Sister Johanna is a member of the St. Michael's Chaplaincy team whose role in the success of Parents' Day '88 was central.

Continuing Education Salutes Alumni, Students and "Faculty Members"

As the 3-year trial period for the St. Michael's Continuing Education Division draws to a close, it's time to acknowledge—with thanks—the important role that our alumni have played in its success to date. Enrolment in the Division has increased dramatically from 160 in Year I, to 386 in Year II to 406 in its third year (to date). With three months and several exciting programs to go in the 88-89 academic year, it looks like our target of 600 registrants could be realized. This result is due in no small measure to the enthusiasm and energy of our faculty team—speakers, panelists and discussion leaders—many of whom Newsletter readers will recognize from their undergraduate days:

Ann Cameron ('70)

Carole Curtis ('73)

Caroline (Morgan) DiGiovanni ('70)

Paul Dunn ('72)

Brigid Elson ('61)

Judge Joseph James ('67)

Roman Komar ('67)

Dr. Edward Rzadki ('56)

Cal Smiley ('71)

Janet Somerville ('59)

Father Myroslaw Tataryn ('76)

Jennifer Then ('68)

Leon Tretjakewitsch ('57)

Space does not permit individual acknowledgement of the quite literally "hundreds" of alumni registrants in Continuing Education programs for the past three years. To all of them—to all of you—thank you for your support, your encouragement and your loyalty.

St. Michael's is pleased to announce the establishment of a Conference and Convention Service to its alumni and friends.

The recently established Community Relations Office—an extension of the Continuing Education Division—looks forward to receiving inquiries from alumni about facilities for meetings, conferences and private parties. Call us at 926-7254 or 926-1300, Ext.3324, M.J. (Mimi) Marrocco, Director.

The University of Toronto Alumni Association sponsored a social evening for the Ottawa-Area alumni on 7 October 1988. The evening featured the Orford String Quartet, the musical ensemble in residence at the U of T and one of the most prestigious classical groups in North America. As well as the regular invitation, the SMC alumni in the area received a letter urging them to join in the event and meet and chat with Fathers James McConica and Robert Madden, who motored to the capital for the gathering. Over two hundred U of T alumni were present, a large number being from St. Michael's.

It was a splendid evening of fine music, delicious refreshment and good alumni fellowship. Gordon Cressy, VicePresident, Development and Community Relations, and Rivi Frankle, Executive Director of Alumni Affairs, represented the University of Toronto. A similar event is planned for Edmonton, Alberta in late January.

deeply moved by the hunger he observed in many areas he visited. After years of thought, planning and consultation with the Basilian general administration, he left his academic appointment and founded, in conjunction with others, the Institute for the Study and Application of Integrated Development. He gathered experts in health care, agriculture, architecture, forestry, food science, education, and engineering into the Institute and in a small village in Niger in Africa began a fundamentally educational project that not only literally made the desert bloom, but also gave the native people an important role in the project; the technology that he brought was simple, practical and integrated into their life and culture. Like Father Bauer and Father Dorsey, he emphasized the importance of human development and responsibility instructing, guiding, and feeding the hungry. Father McGuigan died suddenly in Toronto last July as he was preparing to undertake a new project in Colombia. The work he started in Niger continues and expands.

These three men were extremely talented; they did not bury their talents, as people from around the world can testify. At first glance their careers might appear quite different, but on reflection they are very similar. All three were teachers, convinced of the importance of the intellectual life; all three were devoted to the development of the whole person, spiritual, moral, intellectual, cultural and physical; all three were profoundly priestly in their lives and service of others; all three lived the motto of St. Michael's and of the community to which they belonged: Teach me goodness, discipline and knowledge.
